No. 43.

The healthy woman need not fear the change which comes at the beginning of life's autumn. It is the woman who is worn out, run down and a sufferer from womanly diseases who naturally dreads the change of life. This is the critical period of woman's life, and the prevalence of womanly diseases makes it the duty of every woman who would avoid unnecessary suffering to take special care of herself at this time.

MEAT MALT

The ill which vex so many women at the change of life are entirely avoided or cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong, and enables the weakest to pass through this trying change with the tranquility of perfect health.

THE IDEAL TONIC AND RECONSTRUCTIVE. There's Life and Strength in Every Drop. A scientific combination of the essential constituents of PRIME BEEF and PURE OAT MALT.

MEAT & MALT CO., Louisville, Ky., January 24, 1903. Gentlemen—Having examined your Meat and Malt preparation, and being thoroughly convinced of its composition and mode of manufacture, I can state that it is a valuable tonic and reconstructive, and is especially beneficial in cases of general debility and all diseases attending debility. Yours truly, L. D. KASTENBERG, M. D., Louisville College of Pharmacy.

J. B. DELMER, St. Louis, Mo. I have had occasion to use your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and am pleased to say that I never used anything for stock that gave half as good satisfaction. I heartily recommend it to all owners of stock.

J. B. DELMER, St. Louis, Mo. Sick stock or poultry should not eat cheap stock food any more than sick persons should expect to be cured by food. When your stock and poultry are sick give them medicine. Don't stuff them with worthless stock food. Unload the bowels and stir up the torpid liver and the animal will be cured. It is possible to cure it. Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine unloads the bowels and stirs up the torpid liver. It cures every malady of stock if taken in time. Secure a 25-cent can of Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine and it will pay for itself ten times over. Horse work better. Cows give more milk. Hogs gain flesh. And hens lay more eggs. It solves the problem of making as much blood, flesh and energy as possible out of the smallest amount of food consumed. Buy a can from your dealer.

CONVERSATION

"Old Gordon Graham" Pork Packer, Chicago, Writes to His Son Pierrepont.

Dear Pierrepont: Yours of the fourth has the right ring, and it says more to the number of words used than any letter that I have ever received from you. I remember reading once that some fellows use language to conceal thought; but it's been my experience that a good many more use it instead of thought.

A business man's conversation should be regulated by fewer and simpler rules than any other function of the human animal. They are: Have something to say. Say it. Stop talking.

Beginning before you know what you want to say and keeping on after you have said it lands a merchant in a lawsuit or the poorhouse, and the first is a short cut to the second. I maintain a legal department here; and it costs a lot of money, but it's to keep me from going to law.

It's all right when you are calling on a girl or talking with friends after dinner to run a conversation like a Sunday school excursion, with stops to pick flowers; but in the office your sentences should be the shortest distance possible between periods. Cut out the introduction and the peroration, and stop before you get to second. You've got to preach short sermons to catch sinners; and sinners won't believe they need long ones themselves. Give fools the first and women the last word. The meat's always in the middle of the sandwich.

Of course, a little chatter on either side of it doesn't do any harm if it's intended for a man who likes chatter. Remember, too, that it's easier to look wise than to talk wisdom. Say less than the other fellow and listen more than you talk; for when a man's listening he isn't telling on himself and he's flattering the fellow who is. Give most men a good listener and most women enough note-paper and they'll tell all they know.

VACATIONS. I hear a good deal about men who won't take vacations, and who kill themselves by overwork, but it's usually worry or whiskey. It's not what man does during working-hours, but after them, that breaks down his health. A fellow and his business should be bosom friends in the office and sworn enemies out of it. A clear mind is one that is swept clean of business at six o'clock every night and isn't opened up for it again until after the shutters are taken down next morning.

Some fellows leave the office at night and start out to whoop it up with the boys, and some go home to sit up with their troubles—they're both in bad company. They're the men who are always needing vacations, and never getting any good out of them. What every man does need once a year is a change of work—that is if he's curved up over a desk for fifty weeks and subsisting on hinds and burgundy, he ought to take to fishing for a living and try bacon and eggs, with a little spring water, for dinner.

PLAY. Of course, all this is going to take so much time and thought that you won't have a very wide margin left for golf—especially in the afternoon. I simply mention this in passing, because I see in the Chicago papers which have been sent me that you were among the players on the links one afternoon a fortnight ago. Golf's a nice, foolish game, and there ain't any harm in it so far as I know, except for the balls—the stiff balls at the beginning, the lost balls in the middle, and the highballs at the end of the game. But a young fellow who wants to be a boss butcher, hasn't much daylight to waste on any kind of links except sausage links.

Of course a man should have a certain amount of play, just as a boy is entitled to a piece of pie at the end of his dinner, but he don't want to make a meal of it. Any one who lets sinkers take the place of bread and meat gets hilly and young; and these fellows who haven't any job, except to blow the old man's dollars, are a good deal like the little niggers in the pie-eating contest at the county fair—they've a plenty of pastry and they're attracting a heap of attention, but they've got a stomach ache coming to them by and by.

APPEARANCES. I don't mean that you should distrust a man who is affable and approachable, but you want to learn to distinguish between him and one who is too affable and too approachable. The adverb makes the difference between a girl and a bad fellow. The huncamun aren't all at the county fair, and they don't all operate with the little shells and the elusive pea.

MANAGING MEN. Consider carefully before you say a hard word to a man, but never let a chance to say a good one go by. Prudence judiciously bestowed is money invested.

Never learn anything about your men except from themselves. A good manager needs no detectives, and the fellow who can't read human nature can't manage it. The phonograph records of a fellow's character are lined in his face, and a man's days tell the secrets of his nights.

Be slow to hire and quick to fire. The time to discover incompatibility of temper and curl papers is before the marriage ceremony. But when you find that you've hired the wrong man, you can't get rid of him too quick. Pay him an extra month, but don't let him stay another day. A discharged clerk in the office is like a splinter in the thumb—a center of soreness. There are no exceptions to this rule, because there are no exceptions to human nature.

Never threaten, because a threat is a promise to pay that it isn't always convenient to meet, but if you don't make it good it hurts your credit. Save a threat till you're ready to act, and then you won't need it. In all your dealings, remember that to-day is your opportunity; to-morrow some other fellow's.

Keep close to your men. When a fellow's sitting on top of a mountain he's in a mighty dignified and exalted position, but if he's gazing at the clouds, he's missing a heap of interesting and important doings down in the valley. Never lose your dignity, of course, but tie it up in all the red tape you can find around the office, and tuck it away in the safe.

It's easy for a boss to awe his clerks but a man who is feared to his face is hated behind his back. A competent boss can move among his men without having to draw an imaginary line between them, because they will see the real one if it exists.

Besides keeping in touch with your office men, you want to feel your salesmen all the time. Send each of them a letter every day, so that they won't forget that you are making goods for which we need orders; and insist on their sending you a line every day, whether they have anything to say or not. When a fellow has to write in six times a week to the house, he uses up his explanations mighty fast, and he's pretty apt to hustle for business to make his seventh letter interesting.

Right here I want to repeat that in keeping track of others and their faults it's very, very important that you shouldn't lose sight of your own. Authority swells up some fellows so that they can't see their corners; but a wise man tries to cure his own while remembering not to tread on his neighbor's.

ROOSTERS. "I've heard a good deal in my time about the foolishness of hens, but when it comes to right-down, plain foolishness, give me a rooster, every time. He's always strutting and stretching and crowing and bragging about things with which he had nothing to do. When the sun rises, you'd think that he was making all the light, instead of all the noise; when the farmer's wife throws the scraps in the henyard, he crows as if he was the provider for the whole farmyard and was asking a blessing on the food; when he meets another rooster, he crows; and when the other rooster looks him, he crows; and so he keeps it up straight through the day. He even wakes up during the night and crows a little on general principles. But when you hear from a hen, she's laid an egg, and she don't make a great deal of noise about it, either."

THOROUGHNESS. You've got to believe that the Lord made the first hog with the Graham brand burned in the skin, and that Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine is cloudy or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is still afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of all this is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling of the thousands of testimonials received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

the drove which rushed down a steep place was paced by a competitor. You've got to know your goods from A to Z, from snout to tail, on the hoof and in the can. You've got to be as proud of 'em as the young father of a 12 pound boy, without really thinking that you're stretching it four pounds. You've got to believe in yourself and make your buyers take stock in you at par and accrued interest. You've got to have the scent of a bloodhound on an order, and the grip of a bulldog on a customer. You've got to feel the same personal solicitude over a goods that strays off to a competitor as a person over a backslider, and hold special services to bring it back into the fold. You've got to get up every morning with determination if you're going to go to bed with satisfaction. You've got to eat, think, hug, dream, hug—in short, go the whole hog if you're going to win out in the pork packing business.

That's a pretty liberal receipt, I know, but I intended for a fellow who wants to make a good-sized pie. And the only thing you ever find in pastry that you don't put in yourself is flies.

SUCCESS.

Boys are constantly writing me for advice about how to succeed, and when I send them my receipt they say that I am dealing out common-place generalities. Of course I am, but that's what the receipt calls for, and if a boy will take these common-place generalities and knead them into his job, the mixture'll be cake.

Once a fellow's got the primary business virtues cemented into his character, he's safe to build on. But when a clerk crawls into the office in morning like a sick setter pup, and leaps from his stool at night with the spring of a tiger, I'm a little afraid that if I sent him to take charge of a branch house he wouldn't always be around when customers were. He's the sort of chap who would hold back the sun an hour every morning and have it gain two every afternoon if the Lord would give him the same discretionary powers that He gave Joshua. And I have noticed that he's the fellow who invariably takes a timekeeper as an insult. He's pretty numerous in business offices; in fact, if the glance of the human eye could affect a clockface in the same way that a man's country cousins affect their city welcome I should have to buy a new timepiece for the office every morning.

BOYS. Boys are a good deal like the pups that fellows sell on street corners—they don't always turn out as represented. You buy a likely setter pup and raise a spotted cock dog from it, and the promising son of an honest butcher is just as like as not to turn out a poet or a professor. I want to say in passing that I have no real prejudice against poets, but I believe that, if you're going to be a Milton, there's nothing like being a mute, inglorious, one, as some fellow who was a little sore on the poetry business once put it. Of course, a packer who understands something about the versatility of cottonseed oil need never turn down orders for lard because the run of hogs is light, and a tatter who understands human nature can turn out an imitation parson from a boy whom the Lord intended to go on the Board of Trade. But on general principles it's best to give your cottonseed oil a Latin name and to market it on its merits, and to let your boy follow his bent, even if it leads him into the wheat pit.

DIED GAMESLY

San Miguel Continued to Fire After He Was Down.

Details of His Death, and the Engagement in Which It Occurred, Show how Brave the Outlaw Was.

Washington, May 11.—Unofficial reports received at the war department give additional details of the campaign which resulted in the death of "General" San Miguel and the utter rout of his band of outlaws by the Philippine scouts, commanded by Lieut. Nickerson and Reese. The scouts located San Miguel's band about half way between Calocan and Mariguina, in a strongly fortified coral and blockhouse built by the Spaniards many years ago and well concealed by jungle that it had escaped discovery. Lieut. Nickerson and Lieut. Reese and their men made a gallant attack on this stronghold, under a very heavy fire from the enemy, through the loopholes in the wall around the blockhouse. The scouts charged over the wall, and engaged the enemy in a hand-to-hand combat, driving them into the fort. In this assault Lieut. Reese was shot through the thigh just below the groin.

San Miguel, surrounded by a devoted bodyguard of about thirty men, undertook to slip through the line, but being discovered, put up a plucky running fight. Lieut. Nickerson, with fifteen men, attacked San Miguel's party, but withheld their fire until within short range, when they put three bullets through San Miguel's body. San Miguel died gamesly, shooting while lying on the ground wounded.

Six of his bodyguard were killed. The remainder escaped to the dense jungle. The fight lasted about an hour. The enemy lost forty dead that were counted, and the jungle concealed other killed and wounded. No prisoners were taken. Many valuable papers were found on the bodies of the dead and wounded, which are said to contain evidence against several prominent officials in the province.

Too Great a Risk. In almost every neighborhood some one has died from an attack of cholera or cholera morbus, often before medicine could be procured or a physician summoned. A reliable remedy for these diseases should be kept at hand. The risk is too great for anyone to take. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has undoubtedly saved the lives of more people and relieved more pain and suffering than any other medicine in use. It can always be depended upon. For sale by all druggists.

Looking for a Moses. A number of mill girls of New Jersey have issued the following remarkable open letter: "Who will be our Moses? The girls of such and such mills want to leave work at 5 o'clock evening and have Saturday half holiday every week in June, July and August. The man who can gain this for us (if single) can marry the belle of either shop, the belle to be voted for by the other girls." It is said to say that each "belle" will be entitled to one personal vote.

One of Indiana's Useful Educators Says: "I Feel Like a New Man."

MR. JOHN W. MENG. Mr. John W. Meng, 54 Jefferson Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., State Representative of Indianapolis Business College, writes: "I firmly believe that I owe my fine health to Peruna. Constant travel and change of food and water wrought havoc with my stomach, and for months I suffered with indigestion and catarrh of the stomach. I felt that the only thing to do was to give up my occupation which I felt very reluctant to do. Seeing an ad. of Peruna as a specific for catarrh I decided to give it a trial, and used it faithfully for six weeks, when I found that my troubles had all disappeared and I seemed like a new man. I have a bottle of Peruna in my grip all the time, and occasionally take a few doses which keeps me in excellent health." John W. Meng.

THE MILLER. Since time began it has been in vogue. To call a miller a heartless rogue; If he may be honest, true and brave, But still he's called the city knave. He glads you grist and takes his toll Just what was right, but then he stole; For nothing good was ever said, About a miller until he was dead.

Some of the patrons will insist, He stole their sacks as well as grist; Then they try to make it seem, He followed around to steal the team. The people call him the city thief, Of all sinners he is chief; He'd better be dead and in Shoel, Than try to live by taking toll. So if by labor you exist, Juse swear you'll never grind a grist; Work at something, beg or burst, And save yourself from getting cursed. Beg, steal, lie or kill, But never run a custom mill, Of any trade that e'er had birth, This one is more than life in worth. Then let me die with the sad refrain, I never shall take a toll again; Whether I go above or below, 'Twill matter but little to friend or foe. EXCHANGE.

We are authorized to announce D. BAKER HINDS as a candidate for State Senator from the Seventh Senatorial District, subject to the action of the Republican party.

Joan, they find you out, b'gosh.

Puzzle: Find the candidates who received the largest number of votes in the recent Democratic primary.

Two men were killed and two fatally wounded in a street duel at Yazoo City, Miss., Saturday. The center of feudism seems to have moved South.

We desire to call the attention of the defunct candidates before the primary last Saturday to the vacancy in the office of Coroner in Breathitt county.

The long cherished dream of a railroad for Hartford seems about to be realized. Any individual who stands in the way of the success of the enterprise should be driven into exile.

Last Saturday (Democratic primary election) was tremendously quiet and apparently gloomy here in Hartford. Coming events had already cast their shadow before.

Twenty-six farmers in Davies county have organized themselves into an Insurance Association. It has for its object the mutual protection of the property of its members from fire and storm.

We purchased the territory of Louisiana for $15,000,000. We certainly consider this a great bargain, for we are now making preparation to celebrate the event with a $30,000,000 Fair.

MAYBE the outrageous theft and wholesale fraud committed over the State last Saturday in the Democratic primary was only an organized effort to make the Music Hall convention appear "respectable."

The Office Holder's Trust at Frankfort cares about as much for the Post Mortem statements of its victims as it would for an excited chairman's report of one of Bjornstjerne Bjornson's poems backwards in his native tongue.

MANY counties in Kentucky are enjoying the convenience of rural delivery mail routes. It is safe to predict that Ohio county will never get a free delivery route until she gets her public highways in a condition to justify it.

They do things funny down in Florida sometimes. The legislature passed a resolution demanding a constitutional amendment, providing for the election of U. S. Senators by a direct vote. Immediately it passed another asking the Governor to veto the first, and he "done" it.

Gov. BRADY, of Alaska, suggests that the territory over which he presides, be divided into two states, and that one of them be named Lincoln and the other Seward. Something should have been done long ago towards advancing the political status of Alaska, and should it be divided into states, no names could be more appropriate than those suggested.

It has been rumored in certain quarters that a Democratic primary was "pulled off" here last Saturday. This might or might not be true, however, for, indirectly or inversely, perhaps more, or possibly less, as is usual in such cases, and still it may or may not be, according to whether it did or did not occur, but also besides, it is not always, as heretofore described, possibly, yet we wouldn't be dogmatic about anything which might be doubtful.

MORRIS BELKNAP has expressed his willingness to accept the Republican gubernatorial nomination. He is a young man of the finest educational attainments. His war record is highly creditable, while his business life has been eminently successful and commendable. What a striking contrast there would be between a Republican ticket headed by this honorable and chivalric young Kentuckian, and the gang who, in the language of the Post, obtained their so-called nominations by highway robbery last Saturday.

The remains of Alexander R. Shepherd were exhumed in Mexico and buried in Washington last week with imposing ceremonies. His life was a portrayal of the fickleness of public sentiment. While Governor of the District of Columbia, 30 years ago, he conceived the future greatness of the nation's capital and inaugurated a system of improvements on a grand scale. Public sentiment rebelled at the cost of these expensive embellishments and drove Shepherd into exile. Subsequent years have proven his long-sighted policy to be wise and public sentiment has swung round and made him a hero, heaping every possible encomium upon him. Man never knows whether posterity will view him as a tyrant or place his statue in a hall of fame.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address F. J. CHERNEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Keep the Balance Up.

It has been truthfully said that any disturbance of the even balance of health causes serious trouble. Nobody can be too careful to keep this balance up. When people begin to lose appetite, or get tired easily, the least imprudence brings on sickness, weakness, or debility. The system needs a tonic, craves it, and should not be denied it; and the best tonic of which we have any knowledge is Hood's Sarsaparilla. What this medicine has done in keeping healthy people healthy, in keeping up the even balance of health, gives it the same distinction as a preventive that it enjoys as a cure. Its early use has illustrated the wisdom of the old saying that a stitch in time saves nine. Take Hood's for appetite, strength and endurance.

Machine Runs Over all Opposition Rough Shod.

No Mercy Shown Any One Outside Office-Holders' Trust.

Here is what a Democrat, Deputy Jailer H. F. Garr, says:

"The robbery was appalling. Had Chensault had the vote of every citizen of Louisville cast in some of the precincts, he would have been outcounted in these places three to one. The election officers had been so well drilled that not a semblance of a chance was left to any man not on the ticket. The machine men, to my actual knowledge, began preparing ballots Friday night, and before 1 o'clock Saturday morning, had big lots of signed ballots ready for service in case of need. Where Chensault had representatives to look after his interests these bogus ballots were not used until after the polls were closed at 4 o'clock. Then they were put into a very active service. We caught these fellows in the act of stuffing the boxes. There can be no doubt about it. We saw the operation with our own eyes, and in the face of our objections we were told that we were lucky to get as many votes as we did."

"No trick and no scheme was too outrageous for them to use."

Longville Post: If the so-called Democrats accept such results as hiding their face unworthy of the name they bear. The party is ruled by organized fraud and violence. It is the victim of practices the party sought to legalize by the passage of the Goebel election law. The people of the State have compelled the Legislature to modify the evils of that statute, but the practices it countenanced Saturday, ruled the Democratic primary and recorded the results agreed on in advance by the party bosses.

"I don't understand the new method of counting, but I do know that I, as well as my son, voted for Thomas N. Arnold for Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the returns show that only one vote was cast for Mr. Arnold in the precinct 'T. H. Payette, (Dem.) Chief Justice Court of Appeals."

Of course I was robbed.—John B. Chensault.

GOOD SHOWING

Ohio County Drops Into Line

With Fifteen Common School Graduates—Commencement Exercises to be Held at Institute.

At the examination held here Friday and Saturday for Common School Graduation there were sixteen applicants, fifteen of whom passed successfully.

The examination was rather a difficult one. The highest grade was made by Mr. P. C. Miller, whose general average was 93.45 per cent.

Henceforth, little or no attention has been paid to these examinations, but repeated efforts along this line have at last been rewarded.

Ohio county has only three graduates to its credit, and two of them live in Breckenridge county, the other one being Miss Irene Whittinghill, of Trier.

A new feature of the Institute this year will be the commencement exercises of the graduates. Those who will receive diplomas of graduation are:

John Hamilton, Adairburg; Clarence Bennett, Narrows; T. Wade Stratton, Hartford; Oscar Shultz, Narrows; William S. Hill, Cersivo; P. C. Miller, Hartford; Otis Kinsley, Smallhouse; Louise Leach, Rosine; C. O. Hunter, Smallhouse; I. J. Hoover, Fieldland; Garfield Brown, Elmville; Alex. Boswell, Narrows; Clarence E. Allen, Rosine; and Will Taylor, L. J. French, Prentiss.

A. Henderson, A. J. Harris, Harve Mitchell and C. C. Brown were elected trustees of Fordville Graded School, and J. D. Williams and J. P. McKenry of Beaver Dam Graded School at the recent election.

Sunday School Convention.

The Ohio County Sunday School convention will meet in Hartford on May 30, 1903. Each Sunday school in the county is requested to send two or more delegates, also a report of their work. Take a collection of ten cents each for each officer and teacher and two cents for each pupil. This is for the support of the State work. All delegates will be entertained by the local committee, D. E. Thomas, chairman, Hartford. Rev. T. C. Gebauer, Sunday School field worker of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, will conduct the work. Don't fail to have your Sunday school represented and let's have the best convention in our history.
